Hacking Game Version 1 Description

1. The game displays a header

   - It consists of two content lines followed by a blank line
   - The first content line indicates debug mode
   - The second content line indicates 1 attempt left
   - It is the top line of game output

2. The game displays a password list

   - It consists of 13 content lines followed by a blank line
   - Each content line contains one password
   - It is directly below the header

3. The game prompts for a guess

   - It indicates the player should enter a password
   - It is directly below the password list

4. The player enters a guess and presses the enter key

5. The game displays a failure outcome

   - It contains three content lines separated by two blank lines
   - The first and second content lines indicate failure
   - The third content line is a prompt to press enter for exit
   - It is directly below the prompt for guess

6. The player presses the enter key to end the program